All conversational AI can be built with ChatGPT, Bard, or Bing.

ChatGPT, Bard, and Bing are general AI models. Generalists are great for some jobs, but for complex decisions or serious solutions you need a specialist.

Only large enterprise companies can build AI systems.

Any AI expert with a proprietary set of data can build a specialized AI system without relying on an existing AI model.

AI is going to eliminate jobs.

AI will enhance productivity and create new jobs by replacing the old way of doing things with faster options.

AI is going to cause an apocalypse.

AI is not going to cause an apocalypse. All critical systems will be protected through regulation, technological, and human intervention guardrails.

The U.S. is losing the international AI race.

The U.S. is not losing the speed battle – we are falling behind in the area of cooperation. To win, public data needs to be broadly accessible and we need specialists to build AI systems that automate decisions to simplify our lives.
